On-Demand Writing Assessment Quotes

"When I came to summer school, I freaked out the minute I put my phone in there... I was nervous I wasn't going to have my phone, I wasn't going to watch TikTok, Instagram, Snapchat, or Twitter. Not that I'm crazy over my phone, but it's just that some classes were boring. Thank God I had all my teachers from last year. My first day was amazing/ I saw people talking and laughing at each other, it was golden moment. Later on it was one of the best things that happened at school. I honestly did something I never did before, spoke to new people. This year, I have made more friends than the last two years combined."

- Ramona Flores, Senior

"I believe and know that I have a right to my possessions, but whenever I step foot on campus, I feel as if that is being attacked. It makes me feel uneasy and frustrated. With a boring or annoying task at hand, the mind either stills itself or does the complete opposite. For me, it's both."

- Azikiwe Hunter, Senior

"The no cell phone policy keeps people on task but it hinders students from communicating with people they need to talk to. If there is a family emergency then there is no way to get in contact with a student unless they call the office or go to the school. The cell phone policy also has its upsides. Even my performance in school has gone up because I was usually on my phone during class. Students who used to be constantly on their phone can now focus on their work. We are also forced to socialize and talk to people."
